

Camenisch case against Stanford Water back in court

By Katelynn Griffin

Another chapter to an ongoing water dispute between the Camenisch family and the Stanford Water and Sewer Commission will continue as the trial date nears. The Kentucky Appeals Court sent the case back to Lincoln Circuit Court which will hear the case March 23. The case has been in the court system for sixteen years, but it goes back further than that.

In 1892, the farm located near Logan's Fort in Stanford was owned by Emma Rochester and a section of the property was conveyed to Howe Pump and Engine Company. The spring on the land had been used as a water source for many years by the residents of Stanford, until the city constructed a series of lakes, according to court documents. The deed stated that in exchange for conveying the land, the Rochester Farm would be supplied with "an adequate supply of water" and, along with the water, all required equipment, such as pipes, would be "furnished free of cost."

The Camenisch family purchased the property in 1905 and since 1992 the Stanford Water Commission, the successor of Howe Pump and Engine Company had been threatening to turn off the water and in 1996 made good on that threat. They terminated the water for 19 days, until restoring a limited water supply. Being told that they would now have to pay for the water, the Camenisch's filed a civil complaint against the city.

The Lincoln Circuit Court granted summary judgment in favor of the city in May 2002, arguing that the language of the deed did not create an easement. An easement is the right to use property for another specific purpose, but the original owner retains ownership of the land for all other uses. Generally, this occurs when placing sewer or utility lines, use of spring water, and access to land. However, the Camenisch's appealed the decision and the case was sent to the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

The appellate court agreed with the lower court's ruling that the deed did not create an easement, but the court disagreed with respect to other aspects of the decision. Circuit Court had ruled that the water deal was personal and between the two parties and that it did not accompany the land. The appeals court found that the covenant in fact ran with the land and was more than a personal agreement. Judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court was vacated and the case was sent back to Lincoln Circuit Court. The city claims that in the event that the appeals court found that the deed created a covenant with the land, it "has other defenses...which must be considered by the trial court."

Lincoln relieved by weather 'near miss'

By Michael Broihier

Maybe it was just Lincoln County's turn to get a break from bad weather; the past few years have brought ice, rain and tornados that have damaged homes and upset lives. Bad weather, historically bad weather passed north and south of Lincoln County, and with the exception of some uprooted trees and minor property damage the county did fine.

The bad weather really started Wednesday afternoon when a strong straight-line wind passed just north of the fairgrounds, toppling swing sets, downing trees and even flipping over a camper in the Sun Valley development. Lincoln County Emergency Manager Don Gilliam said that there had been reports of tornados sighted in the area so he had the tornado sirens sounded. "People were already on edge, so I told them to sound the sirens."

Thursday was a bit of reprieve, but Friday the bad weather showed. Gilliam said that at one point the county had bad storms heading toward it from Boyle County and Pulaski County. "I was thinking, 'Here we go,' if these two storms collide its going to be a mess," Gilliam said. But fortunately the fronts passed Lincoln County without damage.

On Friday evening, several credible sources spotted cloud formations with rotation, the telltale sign of a tornado, and though tails would descend from the clouds, they never touched down. These rotating clouds were spotted on Skyline Drive, the fairgrounds, Lincoln County High School and Fort Logan Hospital.

Though the county's Emergency Operation Center wasn't officially activated, police, fire and EMS leaders gathered there to monitor the progress of the storms.

Gilliam said that the county opened five shelters and he received several calls from people looking for a place to shelter from the bad weather. "You know, the shelter concept is really evolving; before, a shelter was a place you went after your stuff was blown away. Now, people are going to shelters ahead of time and I think that's a good thing," Gilliam said.

Shelters were opened at the South Lincoln County Memorial Community Center, Broughtontown Community Center, West End United Methodist Church, the Stanford Church of the Nazarene and Stanford Baptist Church. Gilliam said he hadn't gotten reports from all of the shelters, but at least 30 people sheltered in the at the South Lincoln County shelter in Kings Mountain.

"We have a lot of people who live in mobile homes and it just makes sense for them to shelter elsewhere if they can," Gilliam said.

The rest of the state didn't fare so well. At least 22 Kentuckians lost their lives and towns like West Liberty in Morgan County were nearly destroyed. West Liberty was struck by a tornado that experts said was packing 140 mph winds and travelled at least 60 miles on the ground.

Considering our good fortune, some county residents immediately began to reach out to help others. Five members of the county's Search and Rescue team took a trailer of their gear and headed to Mt. Sterling to help in relief efforts there, and at least one Sheriff's Deputy also volunteered to go to Mt. Sterling.

While the need for help is great, state officials are saying now that the best thing you can do is donate money to groups like through groups such as the Salvation Army or the Christian Appalachian Project.

Two Lincoln men file for house race

By Michael Broihier

Republicans Jerry Shelton and David Meade have both filed for the 80th District Representative's seat. Shelton, of Crab Orchard, and Meade, of Stanford had both filed to run in the 36th District against three Lancaster Democrats, including former Lincoln School Superintendent Larry Woods, and former-Judge Executive Buckwheat

Gilbert.

When the Kentucky Supreme Court unanimously rejected a House redistricting plan on Feb.25, Gilbert found himself registered to run in a district in which he did not reside and decided not to file to run and withdrew his name so that it would not appear on the 36th District ballot and confuse voters.

Chief Justice David Minton agreed with House

Republicans and one Democrat who sued to have the redistricting plan thrown out, saying that the new districts did not meet the "one man, one vote" test. Minton ordered Kentucky Secretary of State Alison Lundergarn to run the house race based on districts drawn before the last census.

Shelton and Meade, refiled in the 80th District and now find themselves running against two other Republicans from Mt. Vernon, Roger Coldiron and Mark Eaton. There are no Democrats registered in the 80th District race.

The primary election is set for May 11, first Tuesday after third Monday in May, and the winner of that race will be uncontested in the fall general election. Independent candidates for state races must file by April 1 to be included on the ballot.

This trailer was flipped by high winds on Wednesday in the Sun Valley development near the fairgrounds. A few twisters were spotted over Lincoln County but none of them touched down.

Time to throw AG Holder under the bus

President Obama has a tough decision to make, but that's why he gets paid the big bucks. He thinks highly of Attorney General Eric Holder, but it might be time to separate himself from the man who was his legal advisor when he first ran for president and was on his short list for vice-presidential running mates.

Ron Paul, despite lagging behind Mitt Romney and Rick Santorum in delegates for the Republican nomination, is polling the best against Obama in head-to-head competition, meaning that there is a significant number of voters who are either very strongly anti-war, very strongly pro-civil rights or both, that see Paul as the only candidate of either party who reflects their strongly held beliefs.

Paul won't get the Republican nomination and has not committed to running on a third party ticket, but if he did, next year's election would turn into a dogfight that would make Ross Perot's insurgent 1992 campaign look tame.

Perot's on-again off-again campaign merely stripped Republican voters from George H. Bush, guaranteeing a win for Bill Clinton, but Paul represents a serious threat to Obama because he will surely pull libertarians from both parties, which brings us to Holder.

Holder gave a speech this week defending the use of drones to kill US citizens abroad suspected of being terrorists. When challenged on the legality of these planned killings of US citizens on the question of due process, Holder argued that suspected terrorists target for killing did receive due process, just not the old fashion kind which involves a grand jury or a judge.

This is dangerous ground but Holder has been on dangerous ground before. He denied in testimony to Congress having any knowledge of the BATF's notorious gunwalking scheme Fast and Furious that allowed thousands of weapons bought in the US to be smuggled in to Mexico. In the same case, Holder has refused to provide investigators with information sought to establish what and when he knew about Fast and Furious. Similarly, Holder has refused to reveal any documentation at all about the process used to determine who gets put on the CIA's kill-list.

In a head-to-head contest, it looks like Obama would handily beat either Santorum or Romney, but throw Paul in the mix and it's anybody's race. If Obama wants to avoid this scenario, it's time for him to make a quick break with Holder and denounce administration policies that Holder has been defending that are clearly unconstitutional. Holder's been in politics a long time and he'll understand that it's not personal; occasionally someone has to take one for the team and this time it's him.

Obama ran on closing Guantanamo Bay, criticized the Bush administration for detaining (not killing) terror suspects without due process and, as a senator, was against many of the domestic intelligence initiatives enabled by the USA Patriot Act, all of which garnered a lot of votes from the right and the left. Without a quick course and speed correction on civil liberties, Obama will cede all of those votes to Ron Paul and runs the chance of throwing away a second term.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Stop and give thanks

Editor,

As I reflect on the events of this past week, I pause and think how blessed we have been. The devastating scenes cause me some emotional moments as I think of the many individuals who lost everything. One family has lost two homes in just the last 11 months in one area to tornadoes.

Fox News reported of one mother trying to protect her two children. However, due to injuries that were so grave, her legs required amputation. Remarkably, her children made it.

For a time, everyone's hearts and prayers focused on a toddler found alive some ten miles from her home—with hopes that she would survive this horrific ordeal. Sadly, reports came on Sunday that she had succumbed to her injuries. The silver lining to this tragic story—she's now in heaven—safe and secure in the care of Jesus.

"Time," they say, "will cure all ills"—certainly time does help but the "scars will last forever"

I might add, I personally have never been a victim to such a disaster as that which came through our state this past week and I am so thankful for that. As I reflect upon the recent events, I come to understand that it could be my home, my neighborhood, or even my life taken during another major storm like the ones that ripped through the heartland of America.

I simply write to encourage people to "stop and give thought" to what we have that could so easily be taken from us. We have no promise of another tomorrow—we must take each day one day at a time.

Take time to tell your family you love them. Cherish the times that you have with them. Be supportive of those who are in desperate need of help when the need arises. Keep the faith in God, that He will "keep you safe till the storm passes by."

Government must be careful with tactics against Occupy camps

By Gene Policinski

A long winter for the Occupy Wall Street movement has seen a shift in tactics by cities, towns and state legislatures seeking to remove many of the estimated 600 encampments nationwide.

Some Occupy groups camped on public property have obtained court rulings that permit them to protest anytime in public spaces, but not to keep tents or sleeping bags on the sites. Elsewhere, formal or informal bargains have been struck that allow tents but not the accessories of camping—in effect permitting momentary shelters, not encampments.

Many major cities, including New York, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Denver, Los Angeles, Oakland, Philadelphia and Portland, Ore., removed protesters from city parks at the end of 2011, citing public disturbances and substance abuse.

So far this year, Miami, Washington, D.C., and Austin, Texas, have removed their local protesters, citing the same reasons. At the state level, the Idaho and Tennessee legislatures enacted statutes that—without specifying any particular group or cause—prohibit camping on public property not designated as a campground or similar facility.

While even some "occupiers" have signaled that the impact of the original encampments has faded and it's time to move on to other tactics (such as occupying foreclosed homes in which no one is living), others maintain that the act of occupation itself is the key part of the groups' protest "speech."

As it has been for some time, the quandary for courts facing such standoffs is balancing the First Amendment rights of protesters against the duties of city, county and state officials to maintain public sanitation and safety—as well as the right of public access by others to those occupied spaces.

What's going to be difficult for Occupy movement advocates in coming months—as more state legislatures follow Idaho's and Tennessee's lead—is finding First Amendment grounds to argue their case. More difficult, certainly, but not impossible.

Still, both pending state laws strive to be "content" and "viewpoint" neutral, at least on their face. Idaho's statute, for instance, begins by noting that the Capitol building and Mall in Boise "function as the vibrant core of Idaho State Government for Idaho citizens." As such, there need to be "consistent public use guidelines" to ensure "the health and safety of all citizens, including touring visitors and school children" and to enable the state to "maintain the highest aesthetic standards."

Courts may not want to throw the First Amendment freedoms of petition, assembly and speech overboard just to support a state worker's idea of what looks good. But words like "consistent ... guidelines" and real public mandates like safety and sanitation will resonate with judges. The language about such broad public interests makes such laws more likely to withstand what is called "strict" or "intermediate" scrutiny regarding government actions that restrict any of the amendment's five freedoms.

Under "strict scrutiny," public officials have to prove that a law is necessary to further one or more compelling government interests (as the Idaho law suggests), and that the law uses the least-restrictive means necessary.

Under "intermediate" review, a law can survive by focusing on a compelling public need and by using means of enforcement substantially related to that goal. Preventing unsanitary conditions by banning camping, but not assemblies, might meet that standard.

When some early Occupy movement groups met with knee-jerk government reactions—such as in Nashville in October, when dozens of state troopers arrested protesters and at least two journalists in a ham-handed sweep clearly aimed at that one encampment—public support rallied behind the Occupiers for perceived attacks on First Amendment rights for all.

Narrowly focused laws and months of gathering evidence on sanitation needs, crime stats and such seem to have replaced hasty police actions rooted more in passion, politics and polemics than in public welfare.

But we all should remain vigilant against too-broadly drawn ordinances or statutes that today seem to take the spring bloom off only the Occupy rose—but that tomorrow might be used against others across the social and political spectrum who would rightly seek to protest on issues in the public square.

Gene Policinski is senior vice president and executive director of the First Amendment Center.

What's on your plate?

By Obiora Embry

What's on your plate? If you do not eat locally grown, raised, and/or produced food, then more than likely, you are eating food that is not real. This "food" has been chemically processed and refined while adding artificial ingredients to produce it in different shapes, sizes, tastes, colors and forms. And since our government allows genetically modified organisms (GMOs) to be consumed by humans and farm animals, our "food" may contain foreign genes, which have been spliced together in laboratories.

In the 1950s, petrochemical companies started mass producing synthetic chemicals—from petroleum—cheaply and developed a partnership with the food industry that still exists today. This partnership made it possible for "food" to be mass produced and preserved for long periods of time while using a minimal amount of natural ingredients. The "food" that we have been consuming is sold and marketed as food but does not taste, smell, or have the nutritional value that food did prior to "the great experiment."

If you were born prior to the unauthorized—by the people—experimentation of our food supply, then you grew up eating real, whole, and natural food—grown and raised by your family, neighbors, and/or community residents. However, if you were born after 1950 and did not grow up eating locally grown, raised, and/or produced food, then you may not know what's on your plate. The "food" that we have been consuming has taken a toll on the natural environment which we need to live—the land, air, and water; our individual and collective health; and our state's economy.

In putting an end to the toll on Nature, our health, and economy, we can heed the advice that Dr. George W. Carver—he never specified his middle name—gave while working at Tuskegee Institute. In a 1916 article, Dr. Carver wrote, "few, if any realize the wealth within our county and the ease with which we can, not only live, but accumulate much above a living." In doing so, we Kentuckians should resurrect our agricultural heritage and begin to value land and our connection to it by growing food locally.

In addition, we should convene with farmers, elected officials, business leaders, educators, chefs, the faith community, community activists, the youth and other citizens to create a regional food system. The food system that we develop can revitalize our health, Nature, and our state's economy, while creating an alternative to the industrial food system. Save the date, register, and make plans to attend the 2012 Bluegrass Local Food Summit from March 22-24 in Lexington. Watts Chapel Baptist Church news

By Neville Hacker

Sunday morning service at Watts Chapel Baptist Church began with Bro. Dick Ledford giving the announcements and prayer request.

Many were mentioned with hospitalization, sickness and deaths in our church family. We have lost three beloved brothers in our fellowship recently. Be in prayer for the families of Scot Bruner, Billy Rowe and Kevin Harris. We are so saddened by the loss of these brothers but know they are safe with our Lord.

After the congregational singing we were blessed with special music by young Samuel Bullock.

Monday night, Watts Chapel hosted the annual Lincoln County WMU meeting. The guest speaker was from the Pregnancy Center in Somerset. We will also be having a baby shower for the center.

Samuel Bullock a young member of our fellowship will be doing special music Monday night. Samuel has a CD of his christian music out now and we are so happy that he is using his gift for the Lord. If you need someone to come to your church and sing contact him.

Bro. Dan Gutenson took his message from Luke 7:36-50 The story of the woman who washed Jesus' feet with her tears and dried them with her hair and then anointed them with perfume from an alabaster box. Bro. Dan thought that the woman (who scripture records as a sinner - past tense) had heard the message of Matt. 11:28-30 Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light and responded to it. Whenever it was she had already heard of the message and had responded. She came boldly into Simon's house, him being a Pharisee would never have invited her in. She wouldn't be hindered as she made her way to her Savior and fell at his feet weeping, not tears of sadness but of joy because He had changed her life.

Bro. Dan said that regardless of what her sin was or how many, she is no different than anyone else. When we have committed one we have committed them all. The ground is level at the foot of the cross. Romans tell us that the wages of sin is death, so sin is sin. When we compare ourselves to others, sometimes we come out looking pretty good, but when we compare ourselves to the Lord Jesus Christ who is the standard we will be judged by, we don't look so good. Excepting his precious blood sacrifice for our sins will make us worthy to be called brothers with Him and a child of the king. If you haven't given your heart and life to Christ, I pray that His Holy Spirit will stir your heart to respond to Him. That is what He wants from us, our hearts.

If you haven't a regular place to worship, join us at Watts Chapel. We welcome you! Service times are Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m, Sunday night at 7 p.m. and Wednesday night A.W.A.N.A.s at 6:30 p.m. and Bible study at 7 pm.

Highland Methodist Church news

It was a joy to be a part of the worship service at the Highland United Methodist Church on Sunday, March 4. Those gathered were ready to share, sing praises, unite in ministry to others through prayer and eager to hear from the Holy Word.

Prayer requests included Jo Ann Elliott, additional surgery; Bev and Iva Young, both ill; Jeff Carmicle, surgery; Dale Young, surgery; Orville and Nancy McGuffey, both not feeling well; Lavern Hensley, surgery; Novice McGuffey family and Hank Sargent.

In updates, we learned that Novice McGuffey had passed away. She was the widow of Harold McGuffey and sister-in-law of Orville and Nancy McGuffey. Also, Hank Sargent did not get a good report on his recent visit to Vanderbilt Hospital.

Birthday persons for the day were Joann Davis and Buddy Young.

Nursery worker was Jessie McGuffey and children's church workers were Doug and Kim May.

A beautiful floral arrangement was shared by Frankie Young. It was a memorial remembrance of her mother's passing.

Betty Jo Singleton was able to see her music better because of a recently purchased piano lamp.

We were very pleased that Mike and Sherry McGuffey and girls were able to be back with us for worship.

Congratulations were shared with Rebecca Garcia and the Lincoln County girls on winning their regional basketball tournament. They will be playing in the state tournament on Thursday in Bowling Green. Rebecca is one of the coaches.

Special music for the service was provided by Dawn Cheetham.

Ron Hunkins, who has been working in North Dakota, was in for a brief visit. While away he is greatly missed by his family, church and the choir.

Also, we were glad to have Kendall Sims with us again.

The scripture lesson was from Isaiah 9:6-7. The emphasis was upon the "vows" of life. These include the feats of man, the healing and working of the human body, God's presence and guidance through the difficult times, but the most amazing of all is the transformation of a lost soul into a new creation by Devine love.

The choir practiced following worship and is working hard to be prepared for Palm Sunday and Easter. We ware truly blessed to have these dedicated souls to share God's riches.

We invite you to join us for worship at 10 and 11 a.m. on Sundays. We need you to join with us as prayer warriors for those who remain on our prayer list from week to week and for those who are new each week. Our God is an awesome God, and He amazes us every week as He answers the prayers of His children.

Marlie Hopkins, daughter of Dwight and Kim Hopkins of Crab Orchard, has been going to the Lincoln County Public Library since she was born. She loves going to the library to look at all the books in the children's section. Marlie is a faithful, weekly patron.

Baughman serves as faithful volunteer for Heritage Hospice

By Emily Toadvine

etoadvine@heritagehospice.com

March Madness is a time for citing stats, and Chandra Baughman has chalked up some remarkable ones as a Heritage Hospice volunteer.

The Stanford woman has been a volunteer for 16 years at the end-of-life care organization that served its first patient 33 years ago. During that time, she has rarely missed an event involving volunteers. She is a regular face at the annual November Memorial Service held to celebrate the lives of every patient served during the last year. Always stationed near the door, she faithfully passes out the programs containing everyone's names.

"I've missed maybe one," she says during a recent presentation she made to African-American ministers who are meeting monthly at hospice to learn about the organization. She explains that her absence was due to a recent surgery and her mother's insistence that she recuperate.

At the annual May plant sale at Danville's National Guard Armory, Baughman does whatever is needed, such as sweeping floors and transporting plants to cars.

Volunteers meet each month too and Baughman has missed only two of those meetings.

"I try to come very faithfully," she says.

Heritage Hospice is seeking more volunteers to attend its bi-annual volunteer training Saturday, March 24 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at hospice. Wendy Hellard, director of volunteer services, has an application and is willing to discuss the program with anyone. Potential volunteers may contact Hellard at (859) 236-2425.

Baughman, who estimates that she devotes four to five hours a month to hospice work, recommends talking with Hellard to learn about the various roles volunteers play.

One of the big messages Baughman conveyed is that volunteers do more than work with patients. During her 16 years, Baughman has worked with six patients. "I treat them as well as I treat my mother," says Baughman.

Chandra Baughman

whose first volunteer efforts started as a candy striper at Fort Logan Hospital.

In 1996, she read an article about volunteering at hospice and decided to become one. Some of that training came in handy while "sitting with" an aunt for seven years.

"I guess it's in my blood. It's something I like to do."

About three years ago, hospice served her grandmother in Ohio. Baughman's grandmother came into hospice care after Baughman explained to her aunt, who was the caregiver, how the program helps patients.

"She said, 'Girl, I'm glad you brought that up. I didn't know anything about it.'"

Baughman says being single and not having children of her own allows her more freedom. She thinks volunteers serve as an extensive of family.

"I like to give to other people because I don't know when I might need someone to do for me," she says.

A devoted aunt and daughter, she sees it as a calling to look after the older and younger generations.

"I always loved taking care of older people," she says.

In addition to her devotion to hospice, Baughman serves as chairperson of a Lincoln County Foster Care Review Board. She is former committee member for Champions, an anti-drug task force focused on youth. At First Missionary Baptist Church, she serves as youth director, fills in as a Sunday school teacher and is an usher.

For anyone wondering what motivates Baughman to serve in so many capacities, she has a simple answer.

"I try to stay busy," she offers.

News from Kings Mountain area

By Violet Bell/Beverly Murphy

Evelyn Terry reports that Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Terry and their three children came to visit with her on Sunday afternoon. Rodney is the nephew of the late Ron Terry. They all enjoyed their visit.

Lyle David Bell and his wife Sylvia, of Monticello, spent the day with Mary Fay Elliott on Feb. 24. Mary Fay tells me that they all had a wonderful day of visiting.

Violet Bell tells me that the Watts Family has been having several health issues over a short period of time. First, David Watts has had an operation for gallstones, next Josh Ruhe, who has recently married Kim Watts, had to have colon surgery, and most recently T.J. Hill has been in the hospital with breathing problems. We are happy to report that all of the Watts family seem to be feeling much better.

We want to thank everyone who had any part in the Donald Stringer Benefit last Saturday. There was a large crowd there at 4 p.m. It was so very nice to see so many people out helping to raise money to help Donald pay for some of his medical expenses. Thanks to all who donated food, time and money to help make this a successful benefit. This is what neighbors should do for each other.

Dean Reynolds, my brother of Durham, N. C., spent four days with me this past week. We had a great visit remembering old times and playing cards. It is always nice to see and visit with my "big brother".

The people of Lincoln County can again be thankful that we were spared from any of the terrible weather that so many other people in Kentucky experienced.

Calvary Tabernacle Church news

We had a great week at Calvary Tabernacle.

Wednesday night Pastor Hall preached a great message on God's GPS (God's positioned servant). On Sunday morning he preached another great message on preparing the Atmosphere.

Calvary Tabernacle was honored to fellowship with Pastor Steve Mullins at Harvest Time in Somerset Sunday night.

On Thursday, March 8 at 7 p.m., Calvary Tabernacle youth will be having a youth service with special guest speaker Rhonda Hall. Also our sign team will be performing. If you haven't experienced a praise like hand sign then you are missing out.

Saturday, March 17 is our community feeding day. The meal will be potato soup and vegetable soup with sides plus a dessert. Drivers will deliver from noon to 4 p.m. If you would like a meal, contact Rhonda Hall at 365-0240 or (606) 669-0077. This program is setup to help the sick, shut ins, and low income.

"He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given will he pay him again." Proverbs 19:17.

Calvary Tabernacle youth will be going to Tennessee April 5-7 for our first Youth Adventure. All ages are welcome to go. Must get with Youth Pastor Steve for requirements.

Pastor Hall would like to invite everyone to come and worship with us. Services are Wednesday nights at 7 p.m., and Sunday school is at 2 p.m. on Sunday. The church is located at 57 West Pleasant Point School Road, Waynesburg. If you have any questions, contact Jonathan Hall at (606) 365-0240 or (606) 669-2019 or Youth Pastor Steve Nicholson at (606) 282-0987.

"But as for me, I will come into thy house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy fear will I worship toward thy holy temple." Psalms 5:7

We welcome everyone to join us.

Happy 4th Birthday

Pleasant View Baptist Church news

By Scena Ann Petrey

In 2001, Lincoln County Girls' Basketball team competed in the state tournament for the first time in the school's history. Cassandra Peek was a member of that team. On Sunday afternoon, the 2012 girls' team won another berth in that tournament, and Cassandra Peek McWhorter will return to Bowling Green as the head coach. Congratulations, girls and coaches, on your much deserved victory, and we wish you the very best. Coach McWhorter is the sister of our own John Peek.

Saturday, March 3, was another busy day for the elementary schools and members of our church. Highland's third team coached by Kevin Goetz placed second in the tournament; Jacob Goetz is a member of the team.

Coach Lewis Cummins' fourth grade team from Highland placed second in both the season and the tournament. Members of his team from Pleasant view are Trey Cummins, Grayson Cornett and Garrett Robertson.

Stanford second grade girls placed second in both the season and tournament. Kelby Petrey is a member of that team. Congratulations to all for a fun season and good effort.

The Lincoln County High School boys' basketball team was runner up in the district tournament. They bowed out in the regional tournament to Southwestern High School after losing by nine points. Brad Petrey is an assistant coach, and Carl-Lewis Cummins is a member of the team.

Kallie Bailey sang a special on Sunday, March 4 to open the worship services. "You are the Life, the Truth, the Way; we bless Your name" were words in her special. He is the only Way!

Bro. Kyle concluded his series of messages from Proverbs – A Guide to Life by preaching on "Wisdom Applied - Conflict Rightly Understood."

The four points of his message were God loves unity, God hates what causes conflict, God desires resolution, and God invites us to participate with Him in resolving conflict.

To achieve reconciliation we must do four things. We have to see others like God does, and He loves us unconditionally. We must also forgive. We must overlook others' faults. (Believe it or not, we also have faults!) We must take personal responsibility. Reconciliation is a two-way street. We need to try to live at peace with all (Romans 12:18). "We did not deserve Jesus and what He did for us; therefore, we need to forgive others just as he forgave us," emphasized Bro. Kyle.

Our Annie Armstrong Easter offering, which goes to the North American missions, will be received Sunday, March 25.

Jessie Wilson sang a special Sunday evening. "I gotta trust You; You know what You're doing; I forget how I'm blessed" were words that staggered the mind. Too often we do forget how blessed we are!

The youth from the church will be attending First Priority Fusion on Friday, March 9 at CLC in Stanford. Meet at the church at 6:15 p.m. if you plan on going.

On Saturday, March 10, the youth will be going to Winter Jam. We will leave the church at 11 a.m. and the cost is $10 at the door and one fast food meal.

On Monday, March 12, the Lincoln County annual spring associational meeting will be at the Hustonville Baptist Church. The meal will begin at 6 p.m. and the meeting at 7 p.m.

A Beth Moore study on the book of James: Mercy Triumphs will be led by Gail Psimer. The study will begin March 11 at 5 p.m. and will meet each Sunday at this time. It will be a six-week study, and the cost is $14.95.

We are saving Campbell's soup upc codes and cereal box top labels for Oneida. A box is on the table by the water fountain in which to place the labels.

Dates to remember: March 21 - Jews for Jesus "Christ in the Passover" presentation; March 31 - Operation Inasmuch; April 6 - Good Friday service; April 8 - Easter Sunday service; June 18-22 - Vacation Bible School; July 1-4 - Celebration at Kings Mountain Community Center; July 22-25 - Crossing's Kid Camp.

Our church is collecting baby items that will be taken to the tornado areas. Bring in any items you have and give them to Verna for distribution. Some of our members went to West Liberty Sunday to help in any way they can. So many areas were devastated by these storms last week; remember them in prayer!

Thought for the week: "You are in the driver's seat, but God is holding the map."

Thought for the week: Satan and his forces are full of lies and blasphemy but the Word of God is true and guides us to Christ, The Way, The Truth, and The Life!

The ladies meet the first and third Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the sanctuary completing a Beth Moore study on the book of Daniel. Come out and get involved in this study!

On Friday, April 6 at 7 p.m., we will have a special Good Friday Communion Service in preparation for Easter. Plan to come out and join for this special time of reflection.

On Saturday, April 7 beginning at 1 p.m., we will gather at the fellowship hall for hot dogs, chips and Kool-Aid followed by an Easter egg hunt for the kids! Bring your kids and join us for this time of fun and fellowship!

During the evening service on Easter Sunday, April 8, the youth will present an Easter program. Come out and support the youth in this endeavor!

Work continues on Brianna's Angel House. If you drive by the Community Outreach Center on Cut-Off Street in Stanford, you will notice the work being done on the house across the street. Brianna's Angel House will be an outreach ministry of the Stanford Church of the Nazarene. For more details and to learn how you can contribute to this ministry, contact Bro. Terry Conner at (606) 365-1260.

The church has an active food and clothing assistance program. If you know of anyone or have a need yourself, visit the Community Outreach Center located at 500 Cutoff Street in Stanford. There you will find a mailbox with blank applications on the side. Fill out an application and drop it in the mailbox for one of our mission team to pick up.

Don't forget, if you have donations to make to Goodwill in Stanford, let them know it is on behalf of the Stanford Church of the Nazarene. You will receive a receipt for tax purposes and the donation helps fund the home missions programs.

Service times: Sunday morning worship begins at 10:30 a.m., Sunday evening services at 6 p.m., and Christian Education Night is every Wednesday beginning at 7 p.m.

For more information about our youth group and children's programs, email the directors at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com

If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Bro. Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. Don't forget to also "like" the Stanford Church of the Nazarene on Facebook to receive daily updates and an encouraging word.

News from the New Covenant Church

By Bethany Rowland

Sunday, March 4, was a great day at New Covenant. Both services were so wonderfully filled with the spirit of the Lord and a great feeling of worship.

Sunday morning Pastor, Bro. Joel Rowland, preached a wonderful message on "Thou art there" reading Psalm 139 in its entirety. As always I encourage you to read this text for yourself so that you will better understand.

This scripture describes the amazingness of God and his omnipresence. It describes that God knows and sees everything. How does it feel to know that God knows us? Completely. He knows our "downsittings and uprisings", our thoughts (139:2 "Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising, Thou understandest my thought afar off.") and our words (139:4 "For there is not a word in my tongue, but, lo, O Lord, thou knowest it altogether." It's amazing to me to know that God knows everything about everyone on earth yet He takes out time for me. And He does it willingly, with joy. He knows that we will never know everything about Him, it's impossible, He is to omni-everything (139:6 "Such knowledge is too wonderful for me;..."), yet He still knows everything about us.)

Verse 5 says, "Thou hast beset me behind and before, and laid thine hand upon me." Bro. Joel described that the word beset means, to be completely surrounded. God completely surrounds us at all times. On a mountain, at the bottom of the sea, in a cave, in another country "thou art there"(verse 8). In those times when no one else is around. When no one else knows what we're feeling. When it feels like our prayers are barely even touching the ceiling and we're saying "God, where are you?" He is there. In these times it isn't important to us to tell the preacher, to tell the singer or a friend. All that matters to us is feeling the presence of God and hearing His voice. And many times that is the reason that we are feeling this way. God wants to see what we will do to get to hear from Him. He isn't absent. He is everywhere. If even the darkness isn't hidden from God (139:12 "Yea, the darkness hideth not from thee; but the night shineth as the day: the darkness and the light are both alike to thee.") then absolutely nothing is hidden from God.

In this we can know that God is with us in the night just as much as the day. Many times we may lie down at night thinking that we need to just get through the night, that things will get better in the morning. You may have gone to sleep drunk or on a high or simply depressed and not wanting to live and thought "Lord, please just get me through the night." Verse 18 of our text says "when I awake, I am still with thee." We are still with Him in the morning. It isn't that He came back when the sun came up, He never left. He sees the night as day and watched over us through the darkness.

Bro. Joel told the story of a scuba diver that was under the conviction of God. He said that he would go to depths of the sea that no one had ever been to get away from God. He did so and found a bottle with a message inside. When he pulled the message out it read John 3:16 "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." No matter where we go Lord, "Thou art there."

Sunday night was an equally wonderful message by Bro. Joel on "When God considers you." He began talking about the storms that hit us last Friday and how the tornadoes came so unexpectedly and then the next morning there was an unexpected calm. After getting used to the sounds of the storm the peace and calm seems strange. We've all been in "storms" of life that have seemed like they would destroy us.

Bro. Joel then read Job 1:1-12. Here we see that even satan has to answer to God. Let me rephrase that, especially satan has to answer to God. All he can do is what God allows. In this text, we see that satan didn't ask God for permission to attack Job, he didn't even mention Job's name, hadn't even considered him. When satan looks at a righteous man. A child of God. All he can see is the blood and the shield of protection that has been placed about them. And so, God himself has to present His children to satan and say "Have you considered them?" But God doesn't do this without thought and consideration. More than one place in the Bible says that God's eyes are on the righteous. Psalm 34:15 "The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry", 1 Peter 3:12 "For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers..." and also in the same book that our text is coming from, Job 36:7 "He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous...". God sees us as righteous and as His children and so, just like when we ask our parents for permission to do something and they have to "think on it", we ask God for something or when satan asks to try someone God has to consider it and if He feels like it will be okay He grants permission.

In our text satan tells God that Job only serves him because of all of the things that he has and later because of the health of his body. That if God allows satan to take away Job's "stuff" and health that Job will surely curse God. God considers this and sees what is going to happen, and he tells satan to go ahead. This means that God knew that satan was wrong and that Job was strong enough to stand. After satan had taken everything away from Job he stood back and waited for Job to curse God, but he did the exact opposite. He fell on his face and worshipped the Lord. He did not serve God because of his "stuff" and his health, he served God simply because of who He is.

In chapter 38, after Job has questioned God, God Himself comes and speaks to Job. He begins describing His amazing glory to Job and asking him if he compares in any way. Job realizes that God allowed this happen for a purpose. But more importantly, God talked to Job personally. Any trial is worth hearing the voice of the Lord. Anything is worth getting to have a personal conversation and relationship with the Lord. Most of the time in the midst of the trial, when we're just wanting to cry and whine and beg God to tell us why, why, why...If we'll just stop and listen, Psalm 46:10 "Be still, and know that I am God...".

To hear this messages and many others visit our website at Newcovenantholiness.webs.com. Come out and be with us Sunday mornings at 11 a.m., Sunday evenings at 6 p.m. and Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Everyone is welcome for praise and worship services and for our Trinitarian outreach programs. You can find all outreach programs and other upcoming events on our website along with many links and Bible studies.

Notes from Sara

by Sara Givens

There will be a Youth Explosion concert at the First Baptist Church, Danville, March 24 at 6 p.m. The concert is in representation of the churches of the South District Association.

On March 25 at 3 p.m. Rev. David McPherson and congregation of the First Baptist Church, Lancaster, will be the guests at the Boneyville Baptist Church on behalf of the "birthday club".

Mr. James Simpson and his daughter, Mrs. Runan Pendygrast of Lexington attended the Lincoln County Educational Fund dinner that was held at the First Southern National Bank last Saturday.

Miss D'Nai Givens of Cincinnati, Ohio, is visiting with her mother, Miss Dionne Givens.

Mr. Russell Logan, son of Mrs. Annie Howard remains a patient at the Golden Living resident.

Mrs. Sara Jones is feeling much better. She was able to attend the morning worship service at her church on Sunday.

There will be a special meeting at the Boneyville Baptist Church on Sunday, March 11 immediately after the morning worship service in regards to the hosting of the South District Association. All members are urged to attend.

Please keep Mrs. Eliza

Napier in your prayers. She is a patient at the Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center and is the wife of Bishop Tim Napier.

Thanks to Mr. James Simpson and the Boneyville Cemetery Club for doing an outstanding job in helping to beautify both cemeteries - Milton and Simpson Cemeteries. Mrs. Patricia Suter is the club president.

By the way, happy birthday to the twins - Mrs. Patricia Alcorn Suter and Mrs. Priscilla Alcorn Brown.

Thought for the week: There is no experience better for the heart than reaching down and lifting people up.

Wyler named to Dean's List

Christian Wyler was named to the Dean's List at Eastern Kentucky University for the 2011 fall semester.

He is a 2009 graduate of Garrard County High School and is presently a junior at Eastern Kentucky University where he is enrolled in the pre-optometry program.

Christian is a recipient of the Beacon Scholar scholarship to ECU. This is a full, four-year scholarship to the University awarded to area students pursuing a math or science degree and based on academic achievement.

He is the son of Paul and Susan Wyler of Lancaster and the grandson of the late Roscoe and Okie Brock of Crab Orchard and Robert and the late Ann Wyler of Stanford.

ECU's Dean's List is an honor that recognizes achievement of a scholastic average of 3.50 or above.

Attorney General finds that Hustonville City Council violated Open Meeting Laws

By Michael Broihier

Responding to a complaint by Hustonville Haunted House owner Paul Gray, the Kentucky Attorney General's Office found that the Hustonville City Council violated statutes regarding the conduct of closed meetings and also violated another statute by failing to respond to an open meeting complaint.

The Attorney General rejected a claim by Gray that the council failed to "promptly record" minutes that contain "an accurate record of votes and actions," but acknowledges that there was one meeting where the council was statutorily deficient.

In the decision the Attorney General wrote, "The express purpose of the Open Meetings Act is to maximize notice of public meetings and actions. The failure to comply with the strict letter of the law in conducting meetings of a public agency violates the public good."

After examining the minutes of Hustonville's City Council meetings, the Attorney General determined that in three meetings in 2011 and on in 2012, the council went into executive session, that is, behind closed doors, to discuss business that was not adequately explained.

No punitive action was taken on the council but they were advised to carefully review the letter and intent of the law to ensure they remain in compliance.

Thieves target Waynesburg cemetery

By Katelynn Griffin

Monday a person, who asked not to be identified, called The Interior Journal saying that items were being stolen from a local cemetery. "I don't want to point fingers. I just want whoever's doing this to stop."

Located off of Greenbrier Road in Waynesburg, is Gooch Cemetery; a small family cemetery that has been the target of thieves. Items removed from the graves include flowers and, more recently, a "heavy, large metal cross" that had been embedded into the ground, leading the person to believe that whoever took the cross had to apply a reasonable amount of effort. "I'm afraid that whatever I take there will be ruined or stolen."

"We will provide extra patrol to those areas," Chief Sheriff's Deputy Danny Gilliam said. While it's not a common occurrence in the county, it can be expensive. "We feel for the family members and ask the public to call if they see anything suspicious."

Kentucky Revised Statute (KRS) 525.115 says that "a person is guilty of violating graves when he intentionally mutilates the graves, monu-

School Board honors The IJ's Leedy for public service

By Michael Broihier

Tuesday evening, the Lincoln County Board of Education honored The Interior Journal's Nancy Leedy with a Patriot Award recognizing her years of tireless service to the county's sports-minded school children.

Board member Denny Hogue told the audience that his son was featured on the sports page several weeks in a row and he took ribbing from friends who asked if he'd paid Leedy off.

Leedy, who has been reporting on Lincoln County sports since 1986, told the board it's easy to get pictures of stand out players in action, but that she always tries to include shots of the bench or other scenes that include players who might not be starters.

Board Chairman Jim Kelley said he went "way back" with Leedy's father, Coach Bill Ed Leedy. "I used to sneak into the gym with Bill Ed, Tommy Owens and Mr. Portwood and have a battle on the basketball court," Kelley said. Last fall, the district named the football field to honor his 14 years of combined coaching at Stanford and Lincoln County High schools.

Patriot Awards were also presented to two students with perfect attendance. Donnie Sullivan, who only missed a half day of school in his career received his plaque in person. Sullivan said that he'd been accepted to several colleges and all of them had commented on his perfect attendance.

Kellie Conley's mother, Carla, accepted for her daughter saying, "She hasn't missed a day of school and she hasn't missed a practice; that's where she is now."

In other business, the board approved four more accredited math courses that would expand upon required algebra and geometry classes. Board member Tim Jackson said that the added Personal Finance course was particularly important for students these days.

The board rejected a standalone bid for bush hogging the district's many properties saying it was high into comparison to previous years. The contract will be rebid.

Building and Grounds Coordinator P. D. Roller said there was a lot of interest in a bid proposal to reroof some of the district's schools. Roller said that more than 15 bidders attended a pre-bid conference where contractors had the opportunity to see the scope of the project.

District Student Services Director Bruce Smith said that the school calendar needed to be adjusted to accommodate the day off given to support the Lady Patriot's basketball team in the Sweet 16 Tournament on March 9. To make up for that day, students will attend school on 23 April, which was originally scheduled to be a staff work day. The staff work day was switched to 15 May, after the May 11 final day of instruction.

Fort Logan and LCHS will adjust their graduation times to accommodate the change in the schedule. Both schools will have to graduate on the same night.

Lincoln claims 12th Region championship with 58-47 win over Casey

By Nancy Leedy

Kourtney Belcher remembers watching, and crying, as the Lincoln County girls played for the 12th Region title back in 2009 and lost.

She also remembers how she cried as she sat on the bench with her Lady Patriot teammates as they came up short in the 2010 title game.

On Sunday, the tears flowed once again after the regional championship. However, this time Belcher's tears were tears of joy as the Lady Patriots claimed the 12th Region title with a 58-47 win over Casey County at LCHS.

"Finally!" said Belcher, who had 11 points and a game-high 10 rebounds in the win. "It was hard to hold the emotion in because it's what we've been waiting on since middle school and it's unexplainable. I can't even describe how I feel I just know I can't stop crying. When about two seconds

Lincoln County will play 13th Region champion Clay County at 9 p.m. tonight (Thursday) in the final game of the Girls' Sweet Sixteen first round at Diddle Arena in Bowling Green. If the Lady Patriots win, they will play the winner of Magoffin County/Ashland at 9 p.m. Friday.

started coming down at the end of the game, I just looked at Ciara (Saylor), and she looked at me, and I looked at Rachel (Spangler) and tears started flowing."

Lincoln (24-9) won its first regional title since 2001 with its leading scorers, Emily Fox and Sydney Harris, on the bench in foul trouble, but the Lady Patriots didn't miss a beat with the rest of the Lincoln players picking up the slack and carrying the team to victory.

Spangler had 14 points to lead the Lady Patriots, Belcher had her 11 points and the bench provided 15 points as Lincoln punched its ticket to the Girls' Sweet Sixteen in Bowling Green. Lincoln will play Clay County (31-5) in the first round Thursday (tonight) at 9 p.m. Clay claimed the 13th Region title by beating Harlan County 41-37.

"Everybody has stepped up this year when it's their turn," Lincoln coach Cassandra McWhorter said. "That's why I've said all year, we're 12 deep. I've got a bench full over there and it's a bonus, and I think that helped us tonight."

Spangler, who gave a spirited pre-game pep talk, said "team" won Sunday's championship game.

"We knew they (Casey Lady Rebels) were going to come ready to play so we had to make sure we did too," she said. "We all worked hard as a team and played hard as a team, and we did it together. It's unbelievable."

Lincoln had already defeated Casey (19-15) twice during the regular season, the last a 30-point rout on Feb. 17. But there would be no cakewalk in the title game.

"We knew it wouldn't be easy," said Belcher. "No game in the region tournament is going to be a 30-point game because every team is out for blood and every team is out for that 12th Region championship."

The teams were deadlocked at 8-all after the first and Lincoln was clinging to a 14-13 lead two minutes into the second period.

Boys 12th Region Tournament: Southwestern eliminates Lincoln 51-42

By Nancy Leedy

SOMERSET — The Lincoln boys' run in the regional post-season came to a heartbreaking end last Thursday night.

Carl-Lewis Cummins scored a game-high 21 points for the Patriots in the opening round, but it wouldn't be enough to lead his team to victory as Southwestern eliminated Lincoln 51-42 in the first round of the 12th Region Tournament at Pulaski County High School.

"We had some opportunities," Lincoln coach Jeff Jackson said. "They outphysicalized us, and I thought their length really caused us a lot of problems tonight. And we didn't do a very good job of attacking the basket until late, but we still had some opportunities. It was just not our night."

Lincoln (19-14) led 12-7 after the first quarter and was holding to a 17-12 edge in the second when Southwestern (25-8) erupted in the final two minutes, 41 seconds of the first half, outscoring the Patriots 12-0 to go up 24-17. The Warriors led 33-24 going into the fourth quarter and posted their largest lead of the game, 40-29, with 3:34 to go. But the Patriots would not go down without a fight.

Jacob Conway drained a 3-point shot and Cummins tallied his fourth and fifth treys of the game to make it 43-38 with 2:30 still on the clock.

Lincoln was looking to make it a two-point ballgame after Micah Ward grabbed the rebound off a miss by Southwestern's Justin Edwards. Conway launched the 3-point shot in transition but missed. A Warrior foul on

12th Region Tournament

Lady Patriots hold off Mercer's Lady Titans 54-50 to reach region final

By Nancy Leedy

The Mercer County girls entered the regional semifinal round with the highest win total of any team in the region (27) and the longest winning streak of any team (16), but the wins and the streak both ended Saturday.

Lincoln County was one of the Lady Titans' victims as they rolled up their 16 straight wins, however, the Lady Patriots emerged as the victor when it mattered most, holding off Mercer 54-50 in the 12th Region Tournament semifinals to advance to the title game.

"I'm proud of our girls, but our journey is not complete," McWhorter said. "I gave them 30 seconds to celebrate, and the celebrating is over, because we started the year with a goal, and we're one win away from that goal."

Lincoln (23-9) had to stave off a strong second-half rally to earn a shot at the regional title, with Mercer erasing an 18-point Lady Patriot lead to even the game at 49-all with just 1:14 left in the game.

And then Chansler Gilbert hit for the Lady Patriots. The reserve guard, one of five juniors on Lincoln's squad and the only non-starter, had only two baskets in the game but her second goal proved to be the biggest shot of the night as she drained a 3-point shot from the left corner with 56 seconds to go to put Lincoln back on top to stay.

"It was a huge shot, a huge shot," said McWhorter. "She's kind of behind those other kids as far as limelight, but I know her heart, I know how big it is, and when she gets her chances, she steps up and makes things happen."

Emily Fox led Lincoln in the win with 16 points and eight rebounds and Ciara Saylor added 10 points and had seven boards. Saylor, who ended Mercer's last shot at victory by grabbing the rebound off the Lady Titans' final shot, collected her final points at the foul line, sinking two free throws with just six-tenths of a second left to ice the win.

The Lady Titans (27-6) had a chance to tie or take the lead when they got the ball after a Lincoln miss with 24 seconds left, but a 3-point shot attempt by Tabby Shewmaker missed its mark.

McWhorter said she knew the Lady Titans had a comeback in them.

"Mercer made a great run, and I knew they were going to," she said. "They're too good of a team, and he's too good of a coach for them not to make the run that they did. I'm just proud of our girls, how they had a gut-check and stuck it out and finished the game."

Lincoln broke open a close game between the top contenders for the region title in the second quarter by scoring 12 straight points. Fox nailed a 3-point shot to open the run and Gilbert followed with a bucket. Fox drove inside for another goal and, after a Kelsi Honaker free throw toss, Rachel Spangler and Tiandra Hocker hit back-to-back goals for a 29-15 Lady Pat advantage.

"We were able to move the ball and execute and knock down shots," said McWhorter. "That was nice and gave us a little cushion going into half-time."

Mercer, which shot 33 percent from the field (16-for-48), was just 2-for-10 in the second quarter until just 1.7 seconds remained in the half when Carli Souder drove inside for a layup.

Lincoln didn't give Mercer many opportunities to collect on its missed shots, outrebounding the Lady Titans 24-10 in the first half, 41-25 overall.

Lincoln added more cushion to its lead to start the second half, with Sydney Harris and Saylor both stepping behind the arc for back-to-back 3-point shots and a 35-17 lead.

Lincoln was showing a 42-28 lead midway through the third when the shots stopped falling. The Lady Patriots, who shot just 35 percent from the field (16-for-46) for the night, missed their last five shot attempts in the third.

Meanwhile, Mercer started reeling off points. Catheryne Claunch, who had a game-high 18 points, took control for the Lady Titans, scoring 11 of her points in the period, including six in a 10-1 scoring surge. Shewmaker added a 3-point shot in the run and Souder hit one free throw to get Mercer within 45-38 going into the fourth Claunch scored three more points early in the fourth to make it 45-41 but then fouled out.

Lincoln reopened a seven-point lead off free throws from Saylor and Harris, but Mercer would make another run. The Lady Patriots went scoreless for almost four minutes allowing the Lady Titans to narrow the gap. Cawood Dedman converted on a three-point play and Taylor Readnower had a putback to make it 48-46 with 3:27 still to play.

After Belcher hit one of two free throws for Lincoln, Savannah Taylor stepped to the line for two free throws and Shewmaker followed with one free throw toss to tie the game at 49-all with 1:14 left.

But Mercer would fall short in its rally, with Gilbert hitting her tie-breaking trey to set Lincoln up for the win. And McWhorter breathed a sigh of relief as time expired on the semifinal victory.

"I just told our girls (before game), 'This is our floor, this is what you've worked for, this is what you've dreamed about. You've got to go out and make it happen,'" she said. "I'm just really proud. They stuck together and just finished."

CIARA SAYLOR of Lincoln County is fouled by Mercer's Cawood Dedman with 0.6 seconds left in the game. Saylor, who finished with 10 points, iced the semifinal win with the two free throws.

LINCOLN coach Cassandra McWhorter and junior Ciara Saylor celebrate a Lady Patriot basket in Saturday's win.

Spencer Sims sparked a 6-0 Lady Pat run with a putback and Fox followed with two free throws before going to the bench. Spangler drove inside to cap off the run and make it 20-13 with 3:48 to the half.

Casey's Tiara Cochran scored a bucket in the paint to make it a five-point game before Spangler went to the line for one of two free throws.

And then Heidi Huffman delivered with her momentum boosting 3-point shot. Huffman, who had just had a triple rejected by Casey's Lakken Miller, got the ball back after the inbounds and nailed a 3-pointer from the right wing to give Lincoln a 24-15 advantage.

"That's a huge momentum. To come out cold off the bench. And she'd just had her shot blocked," said McWhorter. "We run a play for her to get another 3 because of the time on the clock, and for her to step up and knock it down like ice water in the veins, as they say, was huge. Good momentum going into half-time."

Lincoln started to put some distance between teams in the third quarter, opening the second half with an 8-2 run. Spangler got the scoring started with a three-point play, Saylor added a free throw and Belcher got back-to-back putbacks as the Lady Patriots opened a 32-17 lead.

Lincoln posted its biggest lead of the game in the third and sank two free throws to get the Lady Rebels within 42-34 early in the fourth quarter. Casey had the chance to make it a six or five-point game after a Fox miss but turned the ball over.

Huffman sank two foul shots and Sims followed with a three-point play to edge Lincoln back up 47-34 with 5:41 to play. Casey pulled within nine in the last 90 seconds but got no closer as the Lincoln celebration finally started.

"I didn't want to celebrate too early," said Spangler. "I knew, from past experience, that Casey is a team that doesn't give up. We knew they'd keep battling."

Belcher reserved her celebration until the last few seconds ticked away.

"I knew we definitely had it as soon as 10 seconds started going down and she (McWhorter) started putting all the subs in," Belcher said.

"I thought the freshmen are going to come in, we're not going to lose anything and we're going to be just fine."

McWhorter, who couldn't hold back a smile as the fourth quarter played out, said she was pleased with her team's patience in earning the win.

"I told the girls it's not a sprint, it's a marathon. It's going to take a whole game," she said. "It's one play, one shot, one rebound, one assist, one pass at a time. It's a championship game no matter who you're playing. We knew Casey was going to come ready. They were going to make runs. They were not going to back down, and it's going to take the whole game And our girls responded to that."

Lincoln shot 49 percent for the game, going 19-for-39 from the field, 4-for-14 from three, and went 9-for-18 at the charity stripe.

Casey was at 37 percent overall on 15-for-41 shooting, 4-for-16 from three. The Lady Rebels went 7-for-12 at the free throw line.

Lincoln outrebounded Casey 27-19. Both teams had 17 turnovers, three assists and six steals.

Patriots fall

the rebound kept the ball in the Patriots' hands but Lincoln turned it over when Conway was whistled for stepping on the baseline.

Rob Lewis and Cody Epperson answered with two quick baskets to extend the Warrior lead to 47-38 and Lincoln got no closer than six the rest of the way.

"We got off to a great start, but then we had some foul issues in the first half and second half both," Jackson said. "Timmy (Taylor) and Luke (Hill) had foul situations in the first half, and Luke and Trenton (Edgington) ended up fouling out and Timmy had four."

Hill played just 14 minutes in the quarterfinal game and Taylor was on the floor for 20.

"You have to have the nucleus of your kids on the floor most of the night and we didn't," Jackson said. "We made some unnecessary fouls and I thought they were more aggressive than we were. We did come back and had it 43-38 to give us an opportunity but it just didn't happen."

Lincoln was whistled for a total of 21 personal fouls compared to 10 for Southwestern, and that would be the difference in the scoring.

Southwestern and Lincoln both hit the same number of shots from the field, with the Warriors 15-for-34 for 44 percent and the Patriots 15-for-48 for 31 percent. However, Lincoln showed a 37-34 advantage by connecting on seven of 25 3-point attempts while Southwestern hit just four of 11.

The Warriors more than made up the three-point difference at the foul line, though, sinking 17 of 27 free throw tries. Lincoln only went to the foul line six times and converted on five.

The Patriots did not make a single trip to the foul line the first quarter. They didn't need to.

Cummins opened the game with a 3-pointer, Hill followed with a bucket in the paint then Cummins drove inside to score and open up a 7-2 lead. Justin Schulz nailed a trey for Southwestern and Edwards, who led the Warriors with 15 points, hit a jump shot to even the game at 7-all.

Cummins, who was 8-for-12 from the field and 5-for-8 from 3-point range, scored almost half of his 21 points in the first, closing the period with a 3-point shot and a jumper to put Lincoln up 12-7.

"Carl-Lewis had a great game, an outstanding game. I'm very proud of his effort and the things he did tonight," Jackson said. "He kept us in the basketball game. It really hurt him after the game because he really cares."

Lincoln posted its biggest lead of the game, 14-7, off two Conway free throws to start the second quarter. The freshman reserve then hit a trey with 3:28 on the clock for a 17-12 margin.

But the final 12 points of the half would all come from Southwestern. Epperson scored at the 2:41 mark to ignite the run, Collier and Marlow drained back-to-back 3-point shots, and Edwards closed the scoring with a bucket in the paint and two free throws to give the Warriors a 24-17 halftime lead.

Southwestern edged Lincoln 9-7 in the third to take a 33-24 lead into the final frame then held off the Patriots' late fourth-quarter charge to advance to Monday's semifinal round.

Jackson said Lincoln, which had defeated Southwestern 63-59 on Feb. 7 at Stanford, just couldn't match the regular-season performance in the regional game.

"We didn't do a very good job penetrating their zone, and getting in the gaps and we didn't have good ball movement like we did last time," he said. "We seemed hesitant tonight and stood a little bit too much instead of passing and making hard cuts."

"So much we do revolves around Luke's presence inside, passing the ball. And, again, he was in foul trouble and wasn't out there a lot," Jackson added. "Kody (Comelius), Brandon Pittman and Jacob (Conway) came off the bench and gave us big minutes and played well. There were times we had three freshmen and a sophomore on the floor together. They tried hard and played hard."

Thursday's loss was the final high school game for Lincoln's seniors, Trenton Edgington and Micah Ward. Edgington was held to just two points in his final outing and Ward had five points.

"I feel for Trenton and Micah. This is not the way they wanted it to end or how I wanted it to end for them," Jackson said. "They both mean a great deal to our kids and our program. They've done a great job and will be very, very, very much missed."

Southwestern bested Lincoln 29-24 on the glass, led by David Kapinga, Epperson and Collier with five rebounds each. Ward led Lincoln with six boards, Cummins had five and Edgington had four.

The Warriors had 14 turnovers and the Patriots had 12.

Note: Southwestern went on to capture the regional title, defeating West Jessamine 84-

FARM FACTS

Cattle management calendar for March

March is a busy time for Kentucky cattlemen. Spring-calving cows need a lot of attention during calving. Check cows twice daily and first-calf heifers more frequently than that. Be ready to assist those not making progress after one to two hours of hard labor. Chilled calves should be dried-off and warmed-up as soon as possible.

The calving area should be as clean and as free of mud as possible. Pastures which have good sod and are close to facilities work best. Watch around hay feeders so that young calves don't get stepped on. See that each calf gets colostrum within two hours of birth or administer colostrum replacement with an esophageal feeder. A successful birth has not been completed until the calf is up and has nursed.

Disinfect navel cords of newborn calves soon after birth, especially if they are born in confinement. Identify calves with ear tags and/or tattoos while calves are young and easy to handle and record birthdate and Dam ID. Commercial male calves should be castrated and implanted. Registered calves should be weighed in the first 24 hours.

Don't leave cows and calves in tight quarters for more than one or two days because it may lead to scours or respiratory problems. Calves will stay healthier outside as long as they have a windbreak and a dry place to lie down. Watch for calf scours! If scours become a problem, move cows which have not calved to a clean pasture. Be prepared to give fluids to scouring calves that become dehydrated. Try to avoid feeding hay in excessively muddy areas to avoid contamination of the dams' udders, which increases scour problems.

Separate cows that have calved and increase their feed. Energy supplementation to cows receiving hay can be beneficial in preparing them for rebreeding. Supplement mature cows with about three to four pounds of an energy supplement (like grain) and twice that amount for first-calf heifers. Don't let cows lose condition! You need to have them in good condition for the upcoming breeding season.

Continue grass tetany prevention. Be sure that the mineral mix contains magnesium oxide and that cows consume adequate amounts. For example, if the mineral mix contains 15 percent magnesium, each cow should eat over four ounces/day to get 20 grams of magnesium.

Finalize plans for your breeding program. Purchase new bulls at least 30 days before the breeding season. Use visual evaluation and expected progeny differences (EPD's) and select a bull that fits your program. Order semen now, if using artificial insemination. Prepare bulls for the breeding season. Increase feed if necessary to have bulls in adequate condition for breeding.

For your fall-calving cows, the bull should be away from the cows now. Pregnancy check those cows. Creep feed calves with grain or high quality forage. Calves will not make satisfactory gains on the dam's milk alone after about four months of age since pasture isn't usually available, fall calves need additional nutrition.

Now for some general recommendations. Renovation and fertilization of pastures should be completed as planned. Don't forget thistle control! Chemical control must be done early to be effective. For best results, spray with a minimum one quart 2, 4-D per acre in late March or early April. Blue Grass Livestock Marketing Group offers assistance to farmers in need

Blue Grass Livestock Marketing Group has stepped up to offer several forms of assistance to producers after last week's deadly tornados across the state.

Owners have already offered to donate $5,000 to the Kentucky Cattlemen's Foundation (KCF) Disaster Relief Fund that is being set up to address the needs of cattlemen in rebuilding fences and facilities following the storms of last week.

"It is obvious that there are producers across the state in need of help and we are happy to step up to support those in need," stated Blue Grass Livestock Marketing Group COO Jim Akers.

If producers are interested in selling cattle at any of their current markets and donating the proceeds to the KCF Fund, the stockyards will take care of all of the paperwork and make sure that the money is sent on to the Foundation.

In addition, Blue Grass Marketing Group is willing to donate manpower to the efforts. If anyone needs help gathering cattle in the coming week, they are encouraged to give them a call at (859) 255-7701.

The group currently has five stockyards across the state, including Lexington, Stanford, Mt. Sterling, Campbellsville and Richmond; and one set to open in April in Albany. If you have any questions, call the Lexington office at (859) 255-7701 or the Kentucky Cattlemen's office at (859) 278-0899.

KCF accepting donations for cattle farmers hit by tornados

The Kentucky Cattlemen's Foundation (KCF) would like to announce that they will be accepting monetary donations to address the needs of cattlemen in rebuilding fences and facilities following the storms of last week.

"Farmers across the state have been calling our office since the tornados hit wanting to know how they can help so we are working on a case-by-case basis to help farmers however we can," stated Kentucky Cattlemen's

Association Executive Vice President Dave Maples.

Phone calls from some of the hardest hit areas have been received in the KCA office and are being dealt with on an individual basis. Many farmers have had buildings and fences destroyed while others have had entire herds killed in the storms. The monetary donations sent in will be used to directly assist producers in need and are tax deductible. Many areas affected are also in need of fencing supplies.

"These tornados have affected so many of our neighbors and fellow cattle producers and we just want to do anything that we can to help," stated KCA President Mike Bach.

Those interested in donating to relief efforts coordinated by the Kentucky Cattlemen's Foundation can donate online at www.kycattle.org or mail a check to the office at KCF Disaster Relief Fund, 176 Pasadena Drive, Lexington, KY 40503. For questions or more information call the office at (859) 278-0899.

Akers Farm Ltd owns bull listed in Sire Evaluation Report

Akers Farm Ltd of Hubble, owns one bull listed in the Spring 2012 Sire Evaluation Report published by the American Angus Association in Saint Joseph, Mo. National Cattle Evaluation (NCE) expected progeny differences (EPDs) are now generated on a weekly basis; however a biannual report is still printed. Issued in both the spring and fall, the Sire Evaluation Report features the latest performance information available on 4,800 sires, and is currently accessible at www.angus.org.

"This report provides both Angus breeders and commercial cattle producers using Angus genetics with accurate, predictable selection tools for improving their herd," says Bill Bowman, American Angus Association chief operating officer (COO) and director of performance programs. EPDs are generated from the performance database of the American Angus Association, which includes information submitted by more 8,000 Angus breeders this past year through the Association's Beef Improvement Records (BIR) program.

EPDs are listed for growth and maternal traits, as well as residual average daily gain (RADG), docility and carcass traits that integrate DNA information in addition to performance records. Decision-making tools also include $Values in the suite of bio-economic indexes designed to assist commercial producers in simplifying the genetic selection process. The biannual Sire Evaluation Report utilizes nearly 21 million measures used to generate more than 60 million EPDs for the Angus breed.

The American Angus Association with headquarters in Saint Joseph, Mo., provides programs and services for nearly 30,000 members nationwide and thousands of commercial producers who use Angus genetics. Go to www.angus.org for more information.

Dairy producers reminded of MILC Program requirements

The Kentucky Farm Service Agency would like to remind dairy producers of some important program eligibility requirements for payment under the Milk Income Loss Contract program (MILC). FSA State Executive Director John W. McCauley says dairy prices may authorize potential MILC payments, but all dairy producers need to be aware of the program requirements should those conditions arise.

Dairy operators currently enrolled in MILC, need to notify the local county office if there have been any changes to their dairy operation.

If a payment rate is announced, dairy producers enrolled in the MILC program will need to provide the local county office with documentation showing the eligible milk production and commercial milk marketing for the months with a MILC payment rate in effect.

When producers enroll in MILC, a payment start month is selected. This month remains the same through all program years, unless a change is requested by the dairy. Dairy producers are allowed to change their start month an unlimited number of times throughout their enrollment in MILC provided that the changes are requested timely.

MILC program participants are also required to comply with FSA's Adjusted Gross Income requirements each fiscal year. This certification, on a CCC-931, must be completed prior to a payment being disbursed.

New dairies that have not previously participated in the MILC program will need to fill out the CCC-580, Milk Income Loss Contract.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY LINCOLN COUNTY FISCAL COURT

Ordinance No. 01-2.28.12 ORDINANCE PROHIBITING THE POSSESSION OR SALE OF AM CANNABINOIDS, CP CANNABINOIDS, JWH CANNABINOIDS AND HU CANNABINOIDS

ARTICLE 1: PURPOSE, DEFINITIONS, PROHIBITIONS AND PENALTY

SECTION 1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this ordinance is to stop the possession or sale of AM cannabinoids, CP cannabinoids, JWH cannabinoids and HU cannabinoids. These substances are harmful if consumed and present a significant public health danger that can result in hospitalization or death.

SECTION 2. DEFINITIONS

2.1 "AM cannabinoids" means any synthetic cannabinoids created by Alexandros Makriyannis or his research group including but not limited to AM-087; AM-251; AM-281; AM-356; AM-374; AM-381; AM-404; AM-411; AM-630; AM-661; AM-678; AM-679; AM-694; AM-855; AM-881; AM-883; AM-905; AM-906; AM-919; AM-926; AM-938; AM-1116; AM-1172; AM-1220; AM-1221; AM-1235; AM-1241; AM-1248; AM-2201; AM-2212; AM-2.213; AM-2232; AM-2233; AM-2102;AM-4030. The term shall not include synthetic cannabinoids that require a prescription, are approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration, and are dispensed in accordance with state and federal law;

2.2 "CP cannabinoids" means CP-47,497; (C6)-CP-47,497; (C7)-CP-47,497; (C8)-CP-47,497; (C9)-CP-47,497; CP-50,556-1; CP-55,244; CP-55,940; CP-945,598. The term shall not include synthetic cannabinoids that require a prescription, are approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration, and are dispensed in accordance with state and federal law;

2.3 "HU cannabinoids" means any synthetic cannabinoids synthesized at the Hebrew University including but not limited to HU-210; HU-211; HU-243; HU-308;HU-320; HU-331; HU-336; HU-345. The term shall not include synthetic cannabinoids that require a prescription, are approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration, and are dispensed in accordance with state and federal law;

2.4 "JWH cannabinoids" means any synthetic cannabinoids created by John W. Huffman or his research group including but not limited to JWH-007; JWH-015; JWH-018; JWH-019; JWH-030; JWH-047; JWH-048; JWH-051; JWH-057; JWH-073; JWH-081; JWH-098; JWH-116; JWH-120; JWH-122; JWH-133; JWH-139; JWH-147; JWH-148; JWH-149; JWH-161; JWH-164; JWH-166; JWH-167; JWH-171; JWH-175; JWH-176; JWH-181; JWH-182; JWH-184; JWH-185; JWH-192; JWH-193; JWH-194;JWH-195;

JWH-196; JWH-197; JWH-198; JWH-199; JWH-200; JWH-203; JWH-205; JWH-210; JWH-213; JWH-229; JWH-234; JWH-249; JWH-250; JWH-251; JWH-253; JWH-258; JWH-300; JWH-302; JWH-307; JWH-336; JWH-350; JWH-359; JWH-387; JWH-398; JWH-424. The term shall not include synthetic cannabinoids that require a prescription, are approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration, and are dispensed in accordance with state and federal law;

2.5 "Person" means individual, corporation, government or governmental subdivision or agency, business trust, estate, trust, partnership or association, or any other legal entity;

2.6 "Possession" means to have actual physical possession or otherwise to exercise actual dominion or control over a tangible object;

2.7 "Traffic" means to manufacture, distribute, dispense, sell, transfer, or possess with intent to manufacture, distribute, dispense, or sell a controlled substance; and

2.8 "Transfer" means to dispose of a controlled substance to another person without consideration and not in furtherance of commercial distribution.

SECTION 3. PROHIBITION OF POSSESSION OR SALE OF AM CANNABINOIDS, CP CANNABINOIDS, JWH CANNABINOIDS OR HU CANNABINOIDS

3.1 Trafficking in AM cannabinoids, CP cannabinoids, JWH cannabinoids or HU cannabinoids

A person is guilty of trafficking in AM cannabinoids, CP cannabinoids, JWH cannabinoids or HU cannabinoids when he or she knowingly and unlawfully traffics in AM cannabinoids, CP cannabinoids, JWH cannabinoids or HU cannabinoids.

3.2 Possession of AM cannabinoids, CP cannabinoids, JWH cannabinoids or HU cannabinoids

A person is guilty of possession of AM cannabinoids, CP cannabinoids, JWH cannabinoids or HU cannabinoids when he or she knowingly and unlawfully possesses AM cannabinoids, CP cannabinoids, JWH cannabinoids or HU cannabinoids.

SECTION 4. PENALTY

Any person violating section 3.1or 3.2 of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdeamnor and shall, upon conviction, be subject to a fine of not more than $500.00, or imprisonment for not more than 12 months, or both, for each offense. If current or future Kentucky law(s) (KRS, etc.) prohibits any substance(s) contained in this ordinance, the Kentucky law(s) (KRS, etc.) shall be applied instead of this ordinance for both prosecution and penalty.

SECTION 5. CONSTITUTIONALITY

If any article, section, sentence or part of a sentence in this ordinance is found to be unconstitutional, it is the intent of the drafter to strike only the unconstitutional provision(s) and for the remainder of the ordinance to remain in effect.

ARTICLE II: EFFECTIVE DATE

This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its adoption. This the 28th day of February 2012.

INTRODUCED AND PUBLICLY READ on the first reading on the 31st day of January, 2012.
